Lead by Listening

As your city councilman-at-Large for eight years and now as a candidate for mayor, I have walked every neighborhood in Mandeville several times, knocking on doors and meeting with residents to listen and learn. Lead by listening is the foundation of my campaign. That accurately reflects how necessary and valued your input is to the future of our community. My six-point Madden Plan is the result of citizen-based collaboration which outlines the objectives, direction, and challenges that will be my focus as mayor. Together, we will ensure that Mandeville remains the unique and livable city it is by wisely governing and being good stewards of our bountiful resources.

Election Day is 4/4/2020

THE MADDEN PLAN

Traffic and Drainage-continue to lead collaborative traffic meetings with other government entities and DOTD to mitigate impacts on you and keep you informed; seek out the latest technology for citywide drainage and infrastructure planning.

Business Friendly-attract and keep businesses you want by working on the redevelopment of empty properties.

Beautification-enhance our public green spaces, improve landscape management, and implement proactive code enforcement.

Communication and Collaboration-use technology to deliver emergency messages to you immediately and implement inter-governmental communication so the city works better for you.

Ethics and Transparency-deliver openness in city government on the issues that matter to you and prioritize your input on important projects.

Budgeting-lower expenses through better accuracy in budgeting; call for an operational efficiency audit on the management policies and procedures at city hall.
